I have not experienced this type of animal poisoning at this time. I did many years ago, while living on Long Island in New York. I believe it was done accidentally by a neighbor of mine who used pesticides in his immaculately cared for garden. My vet informed me that there was nothing that he could do for my pet cat and I still carry the thoughts of this within me now. Hopefully your organization can achieve a successful solution to this type of pest control.

Good luck for you success in regards to this. Sincerely, Audrey Rohleder
